KiwiRails Safety Fence Causing An Uproar

KiwiRail sprang a surprise to the town with the sudden, unexpected, unconsulted on and from the feedback, totally unexpected. The fence was erected with the haste definitely not often associated with traditional railways. It was up and finished before the town could have the proverbial blink. Apparently it is a safety issue and KiwiRail is adamant it is necessary. Some of the towns people are wondering if it is a sign of things to come as it is only on one side of the tracks and fence before the picnic area adjacent to the tracks. KiwiRail have responded to the towns reaction by saying that they are prepared to listen to the gathering of local opinion and this may give the opportunity to mitigate the fence in some way. Some of the other comments about the fence stem from it splitting the town and the village green in two and also the fact of fence which is much like a standard farm sheep fence.

There will be a Public Meeting in the Town Hall Super Room on Thursday 11 February at 7.30 pm for the town to air their views. KiwiRail have been sent an invitation. If you have an opinion or your want to hear other opinions the opportunity is now in your hands.

Goodbye to Tariki Bowling Club

Tariki Club members bowed their last bow before Christmas. It was agreed at a meeting to sell the land and building. Linda Pidgeon from McDonald Real Estate Ltd found a buyer and settlement took place shortly after.

The Tariki Bowling Club had been in existence for about nine years. As its peak it had between 30 and 40 members, but at its end only about twelve, three ladies and about nine men.

Peat Craig was the last President and Nick Verry Secretary Treasurer. The club started with one green in the 1920s. A new green was established on the present site with four runs in 1925, before becoming full size in 1981.

The most famous Tariki member was New Zealand's first Olympic Champion, Harry Kerr, who was involved in the development.

Play Time For Your Dog (Polly Catlin-Maybury)

Selective hearing seems to be a problem afflicting many of our pet dogs! How can our pet pooches hear a packet of biscuits being opened from 50 metres away yet are totally oblivious to their owners' shouting their names while hoovering?

It seems that our dogs' ears are directly connected to their motivation – the chance of a biscuit is a highly motivating factor in getting them to run directly to the sound of the packet being opened no matter what they may be doing at the time.

As pet owners we need to ensure that we provide our dogs with the motivation to come to us every time we ask them to. The best way to do that is to make sure we are fun to be around! Play games with your dog – tugging is one of the best – by cycling their brain. Tasty treats are always welcome too. Make being with you, their owner, fun!

Start teasing your dog that you're worth coming in to a place where there is nothing to distract him – in your home he usually waits. Call him at random times, just for a treat. Then slowly start incorporating the training and build up to the thing your dog finds most fun.

Before you know it, you'll have a pooch who can't wait to come when you call. Your Fido may be 20 years old, 20 years of training experience and a passion for helping people to teach their pets how to become happy family dogs and good citizens.

Brown Water Safe Any brown water coming from taps in Inglewood might look terrible, but it's not a health hazard. In recent weeks the town has had two pipeline breaks that have stirred up sediment lying in the water pipes, turning the water brown. The sediment usually settles again overnight. NPDC Manager Water and Wastes Mark Hall says while the water has a brown appearance, it is not dangerous if drunk. "I don't think anyone would try drinking it because it doesn't look nice and it has the sediment floating in it – but if you accidentally swallowed some, it's not dangerous to your health," says Mr Hall. "All of the water in the town's supply is disinfected and the presence of this sediment doesn't affect that." The Council is investigating a long-term solution to the problem of sediment in the town's reticulation.

Using a small control to control these pests, and spray directly and safely with Tuta Insect Control for Fruit & Veggies if they are still a problem. White butterflies and their hungry caterpillars will be lurking about. Control these caterpillars with Tuta Caterpillar Eliminator for Fruit & Veggies, or you can use organic methods like placing agriballs around plants, picking caterpillars off plants, netting over plants, planting nasturtiums nearby (attracting them away from your crops) and an interesting idea is to sprinkle the damp foliage with household flour so that the caterpillars get clogged up and fall off.

Whatever you choose, a good garden doesn't just happen, go work on it and reap the rewards!
