

Congratulations Mavis Taylor on Your 100th Birthday (Zena Clark)

Huge congratulations to Mavis on her 100th birthday, celebrating her birthday with 36 of her family with a "High Tea" luncheon at the Inglewood Club. Mavis had goals, she wanted to be the longest living (96) in both sides of her family. Her next aim was to get to 100 and receive the Queen's Congratulatory card (which she received along with others from the Governor General, Mayor, MP's and others). Mavis has always been positive, a trait seen over and over in her life, having always had a wish list, one was a helicopter ride over the family farm in Mania and over Mt Tararaki for her 90th birthday. Another was a hot air balloon ride, which she did while staying with daughter Zena (and Joe) with a flight from Methven over the Canterbury Plains.

Mavis, born in Mania to Fred and Ella Chisnall, fourth of 11 siblings and the only one to reach 100, which she puts down to "hard work". She has good health, is on no medication and has only been hospitalised when she fractured her hip from a fall. She left school at 12, worked on the farm and helped her mother with the younger siblings. Mavis was in the Mania Ladies Hockey Team when they won the Tararaki Championship in 1939. She married Richard Taylor (Dick) in 1947 and they went milking cows, later purchasing their dairy farm in Inglewood in 1953. She lived in Inglewood for 68 years and only recently moved to Riverside. Mavis is the proud mother of seven grandchildren of 12, great-grandmother of 16 and great-great-grandmother of seven. (Continued on page three)

Our Kiwi Worldwide (Karen Morait)

EAST TARARAKI It has been pretty exciting for the team to have had our kiwi adoption certificates end up all over the world: Germany, Spain, Austria, UK, Ireland and USA to name a few! We love hearing the stories of our certificatees being given as gifts for weddings, birthdays, anniversaries for kiwi lovers, expats or those that have visited in the past and just love our country. Ella lives in Australia and her Aunt Meg contacted us to purchase a kiwi certificate in support of "Pākihi" for her Christmas present, and then for her 8th Birthday made her this awesome cake they nicknamed "PaCakeKi". Ella then made kiwi cupcake friends to keep Pākihi company. How cool is this! If you wanted to make kiwi cupcakes or cakes to show us your talents in that department our Rangers said they would be happy to judge it by sampling them. The board has made the decision to close the office and retail spaces temporarily whilst in the 'red traffic light' status. The team will still be working so please contact us via email: info@ecor.org.nz or via phone 06 7568925.

Freedom Convoy 2022 Occupies Inglewood

The Freedom Convoy made its way through Inglewood with a stop on Moa Street to refuse. If you don't know what the freedom convoy is, it is an argument against losing our rights and retaining our freedom of choice. The following is the Mission Statement: This is open to all - in a car, van, motorbike or it be Grandma in Grandpa on folded chairs waving tea towels or kiddies in push chairs with their parents - this is for all New Zealanders to take part in or talk to your neighbours, friends, and family about what you see, what you feel and share information. Change happens with people's beliefs and we are allowed to change our minds and learn new things - this is a wonderful moment in the world's history - the biggest march world wide ever known.

Continued from front page: Mavis was an avid indoor bowls player, winning the Inglewood Division Champion of Champion Fours at aged 96 (playing that game with a fractured hip), drove until 95 and was gardening on her 1/4 acre section until recently. Involved with many groups, Durham Road CWA, RSA, Women's section, Rose Society, Genealogy Society. Indoor Bowls, gardening, hand and machine knitting and sewing. She made all her younger sisters coats and dresses before getting married. Mavis kept in touch with her two brothers during WW2, by writing and posting knitting and food. She enjoyed travel to Fiji, Rarotonga, England, Europe, Canada, Australia and throughout New Zealand extensively. Mavis lost her husband aged 55, but carried on farming with family members. Mavis is a very family oriented, keeping the family together and organising family reunions on both her parents sides. The extended family still enjoys getting together for a mid winter and pre Christmas luncheon.

Norfolk School Property Developments

Over the holidays we have been able to achieve some real progress in a number of NZCT property developments around our school. The boundary fencing along the bottom field is now complete and it is awesome! The fencing is higher and more secure but also has gateways to allow us to access the river when the time is right as well. We are very grateful to TET Community Trust for providing the grant to allow this to happen. Fencing contractor Joe Corlett was outstanding to work with and really went the extra mile for the children of our school. Thank you! Our new Sports court is very close to completion. Unfortunately the contractors weren't able to complete the hot mix surface over the break but our awesome builder Neil Hitchcock has tolled in the heat of the past few weeks to complete the most amazing treading seating and retaining wall around the court. This provides fantastic seating as well as great protection for the new court. We're scheduled for hot mix to be laid after Waitangi Weekend and then we'll have the basketball goals installed and the fences marked. It's going to be an amazing "Sports Area". We thank NZCT for a very generous $40,000 grant which covered a lot of the costs and enabled us to get the project across the line!

Garden Clues with Sue (Sue Marsh)

So, have we had enough rain to keep everyone happy? Certainly a few good days of rain are needed to top up our soil water levels, let alone your water tanks, if you have them. The warm weather and moisture will see everything taking off again in the garden, so check out for anything that might need extra staking, as well as weeds trying to compete with your crops.

Very happy to report, the birds definitely do not like the foil balloons, and are keeping away from the ripening crops, and the trouble is much more sinister when it comes to the tomatoes. I have encountered for the first time, blossom end rot on my tomatoes, they look lovely, but some of them have rotted on the end where the flower turns into fruit, thus blossom end rot. It commonly affects tomatoes, capsicums and courgettes. It is not a disease but a physiological disorder and can't be spread from plant to plant or from fruit to fruit, which I hope is true. So how did it come about and what can I do.

It can be caused by irregular, uneven watering, (oops could be guilty) and tomatoes growing in containers like mine, have a chance of drying out - one big water a day is preferable to two light waterings. Take care not to wet the foliage too much. Use SaturAid for container grown tomatoes to ensure that water is evenly distributed through the pot and the potting mix remains moist between waterings. The tomatoes planted early in the season when temperatures are cool are more susceptible to blossom end rot. Early fruit may show signs but later developing fruit should be fine. Tomatoes can also develop blossom end rot due to a lack of calcium and magnesium. Use a fertiliser low in Nitrogen (N) and high in phosphorus (P). As tomatoes grow very rapidly over a short period of time, make sure you feed them regularly, if using a liquid feed do it every fortnight. If you are growing tomatoes in a glasshouse increase the ventilation as high humidity can also contribute to blossom end rot. The good news is if you get the fertiliser regime right and water consistently the blossom end rot will go away, so a bit of extra TLC is needed to see if I can save my bumper crop. I'll let you know how it goes, anyway, h o p e y o u a r e e n j o y i n g y o u r g a r d e n i n g t h i s w e e k, m i g h t b e a l i t t l e e a s i e r a f t e r t h e r a i n!

Egmont Village Community Has Had Enough (Jenny Coulson)

Egmont Village Community has had enough of speeding traffic and excessive noise on SH3 through their Village.

A group called Egmont Village Safety Improvements has been formed to try to further lobby NZTA/Waka Kōwhiri to implement some inexpensive changes in the very near future. We are not asking for an expensive roundabout, just safer road conditions. The similar size village of Urenui on SH3 29kms north of New Plymouth enjoys 50kph, 50kph in 200 metres signage, no engine braking signage and electronic speed signs indicating an individual's speed. So it begs the question, why doesn't or cannot Egmont Village enjoy the same?

In fact our situation poses more health and safety concerns than Urenui. The busy intersection is gateway for residents and many commuters with Mt Tararaki a major attraction up Egmont Road as well as access to a large industrial area down Egmont Road. Lower Egmont Road is used by many large truck and trailer units hence the use of noisy engine brakes by some drivers approaching the intersection. The intersection lanes are narrow and it's a harrowing experience waiting to make a turn into or out of Egmont Road, with multiple vehicles large and small approaching from north and south on SH3 at 70kph or more.

EGV school classrooms bordering the main road are unable to open windows for ventilation due to road noise. In the current COVID pandemic climate, this goes against the Ministry of Health recommendations that schools adequately ventilate classrooms and not rely on air-conditioning. EGV school (177 pupils) borders SH3 and many parents would attest to the hazards posed by the intersection as they drop or collect children twice daily during peak traffic. The school, garage, Mitchell's concrete and Simply Devine café also have exits within a few metres of the intersection making exiting hazardous. EGV Bike service centre, Chooks Trailers and Pumps and multiple homes also have exits within 200 metres.

Currently the speed limit is 70 km per hour on observation is frequently abused. The road noise from traffic, including heavily laden semi trailer and truck units, is affecting residents, school pupils and teachers, business users and visitors alike. We ask that the speed limit be reduced to 50kms and the signs be relocated 500mtrs both north and southwards allowing plenty of time for drivers to slow down prior to reaching the intersection.

We also ask that signage be erected indicating 50kph in 200mtrs. NO engine braking please. Major intersection ahead and electronic speed indicators which have been advised are the single most effective tool in slowing traffic. None of these would be overly expensive and could be quickly erected. We are planning a petition and ask those using this stretch of SH3 sign and support our quest for a safer, quieter road through Egmont Village.

It's been a busy time for Inglewood Lions lately.

The 2022 Vintage Car Festival recently held in Inglewood saw approximately 20 Inglewood Lions members and partners and members of the IHS 1st XV Girls Rugby assisting on the day with putting out the table and chairs in the morning and packing away when the event finished.

Lion Dennis Dravitski hosted the Incoming President's BBQ at his place. It was well attended and it was great to be able to relax and catch up before the first Inglewood Lions business meeting in February. The Tararaki Maize Maze which is currently operated by the Inglewood Lions is now open for the season. The growth of the maize was slow to start but it has shot up in height in the last couple of weeks. Busy weekends with people making the most of the weather have come to the maize. The scanning in of QR code and showing your Vaccine Pass has just become a normality in our lives. Open weekends and public holidays 11.00am – 5.00pm. Other times by arrangement. Keep an eye on our Inglewood Lions Maize Maze Facebook page for information. For further information on the maize contact Maize Maze

Sporting Trials (Sidney Hirst)

Sporting Trials NZ held their first round of the summer series recently in very dry conditions. This made it difficult for the organizers to make the sections challenging without having the cars rearing over backwards. Matthew Hopkins came very close to this on section two in the morning.

Cameron Hunger was driving very well and got from the start to the finish line in second place behind Sid Hirst. Quinn Marshall was having a horrid day but had a couple of good rounds.

Results: A Grade: First Sid Hirst, Second Gordon Marshall, Third Murray Bridges. B Grade: First Cameron Hunger (third overall), Second Quinn Marshall, Third Matthew Hopkins.

Primo and OurCloud Putts for Bucks Hospice Fundraiser
 Cluttering to Paul Lamb, Chief Executive of Hospice, at the Taranaki Chamber of Commerce Business Awards Jasmine and Matt Harrison of Primo discovered that they were looking at a shortfall of about $4.5m so started discussing how they could help out. They came to the conclusion that a fun fundraiser would be a good start. They then went on to contact fellow New Plymouth IT company OurCloud who were keen to help as Hospice Taranaki does so much for the community, and for many people they have known personally. So the weekend of 29 and 30 January Putts for Bucks happen where they ran the Ingewood Mini Golf, with proceeds going to the hospice. Along with the mini golf there were raffles, a barbeque and other ways to swap money for fun to help the hospice.

Over 300 people came through to enjoy a game and then they stayed around to sample the BBQ and cool off with a soft serve ice cream or drink. They have banked $1450 with still more to come! The remaining mini putt funds will be paid out in April, and we have our online auctions still going. This total includes some pretty generous donations made to Hospice on the day as well. The sausage sizzle made possible by these fabulous businesses: Tasman Toyota for the BBQ trailer, Yarrow's The Bakers for bread, Bumblebee Bakery for the lovely sourdough, New World Merrilands for sausages and onions, Bell Block Supermarket for tomato sauce and Mustard. Thanks to Corey, the local sales rep at Frucor for the donation of a few dozen drinks we could sell and The Warehouse $100 gift card that we used to buy serviettes, drinks, and lollies for our jar. Thanks to Abraham's Funeral Home for the ice cream machine, cones and mixture, and Totally Food on Gill St for the chocolate/strawberry sauces and sprinkles! We gave away some spot prizes on the day too, thanks to Z Ingewood for the $100 worth of gift cards, OurCloud and Primo branded merchandise. These went down a real treat with everyone.

The fundraising has not finished, there is a series of online auctions on Trade Me with great items donated by local Taranaki businesses. Follow the link <https://www.trade.co.nz/auctions> to the list of auctions which include everything from fire extinguishers to art prints, beauty vouchers to ginger beer kits and lots more to come.
