

Marching Their Way To Success (Nichola Reas)

The Under 18 and Senior Males Marching teams representing Taranaki travelled to Invercargill to compete in the New Zealand National Marching Championships. The first march of the competition for the Under 18 team separated the teams into two categories, championship and plate. The girls qualified for the plate March. The second March had them come away with a First in technical and Second in display, making them the top team in the plate category and sixth overall in New Zealand. The senior team competed in the championship category and came away with a sixth for their display. Both teams worked really hard, with long intense training leading up to the competition and a lot of fundraising and it paid off. Thank you to our sponsors, everyone who supported both teams fundraising efforts and to all the coaches, chaperones and whanau. Well done to both teams who have done Taranaki and Ingwood proud.

Editors Comments

With the spate of vehicles being stolen or attempted to be stolen happening in our town the frustration from residents is evident. It is sad when you can't park your vehicle outside your house without the worry of it being taken. It even seems frustrating for the Police as most likely the offenders are minors and really the law seems to prevent them from being punished.

Our laws may need a review so that offenders can actually be held accountable and have relevant consequences, which don't include reductions (discounts) on sentences given for things like expressing remorse, pleading guilty, having a personal background that could be contributory to your offending. If offended more than once these mitigating factors should not be applied as all the chance was given the first time round and aggravating factors should be applied to increase sentences.

Durham WI Special Awards (Christine Fitz Patrick)

A contingent of Durham members were among those who attended the recent North Taranaki Federation of Women's Institutes Annual General meeting. They were very proud to see two of our members presented with special awards by visiting National President, Jude Vaughan.

Lions News (Wendy Oene)

Wow, what an amazing Night Night we had at the Maze Maze on Friday 21st March. We estimate that around 700 people were through the maze, probably our biggest ever. Thanks must go to Ingwood Volunteer Fire Brigade for managing the car parking, they did an amazing job as usual and Pace Power and Air for providing the lighting. Thank you to Zorb Balls, Little Liberty Ice Cream and Outpost who had on site, you guys worked really hard to feed and provide extra entertainment to a huge crowd and a massive thanks to all those that helped out with being Starners and thanks to everyone, we could not hold this successful event without your dedication. Also, thank you to all the people that came through the Maze Maze during the season, without your continued support we would not be able to give so much money back into our amazing community. The Maze Maze is now closed for the season. See you again next season.

Gardening Clues with Sue (Sue Marsh)

As the autumn months roll in April marks a significant time to focus on vegetable gardening and flower bed maintenance. With the right planting strategies and care techniques, you can ensure a vibrant garden that flourishes throughout the colder months. April is the perfect time to plant a variety of cool-season vegetables that thrive in the cooler temperatures of winter. Consider focusing on the following Brassicas such as cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, and kale are excellent choices during this time. They can withstand frost and typically improve in flavor with cold exposure. Root vegetables like carrots, beets, and parsnips can be sown now, providing a hearty harvest by the winter water sets in. Onions are ideal for planting in April, as they benefit from the cooler weather before winter sets in. Don't forget the leafy greens like spinach and silverbeet, as well as winter salads can also be planted to provide fresh produce during the colder months.

Marinoto News (Lyn Swain)

This last fortnight has again been full of entertainment and laughter. Our aim is to keep the residents busy with activities and fun things. Sometimes a challenge but we get there.

On 17th March was St Patrick's Day. The residents and staff dressed up for this. A lot of different outfits were worn by both. This caused a bit of a stir but was enjoyed by all.

The 18th we had Kobara Rest home back out for our monthly game of Bowls. Marinoto still hold the trophy. Residents from both rest homes enjoy the afternoon with a lot of banter between the two. Bowls walks are going well. Thank you to the volunteers that come and help enabling me to take more wheelchair bound residents.

Our entertainment still is enjoyed by the residents every Friday. Next month we will be holding a Happy Hour from 4:30pm until 6:00pm welcoming residents & family to join us.

Every second Tuesday we have a group of singers come in and entertain for half an hour. Thank you so much for the entertainment. A church service is also held every third Thursday. Thank you, Robyn, for giving up your time. On April 19th and 12th, we are holding open days here at Marinoto Rest Home. Feel free to come and look through our wonderful facility. There will be activities and entertainment going on.

St Patricks School Fun Day (Chloe Haydon - Year Eight)

On Friday the 21st of March, St Patrick's School had their annual fun day. St Patrick's hosts the fun day for ex-students, school students, and families from our community and families that have children that are turning five to come and see what St Patrick's is all about.

The fun day started at 4:30pm and went until 7:00pm. On the fun day they had zorb balls, a big dig, jumping castles, free food such as drinks, sausage and ice creams. They also had glitter catwalks, hair braids, tug of war, and games named Pepper and Miss, plus a huge Dalmatian dog named Charlie. The night was amazing, thank you St Patrick's for hosting the event.

Ingwood First News (Vida Harkness)

On Wednesday, 19 March, members of Ingwood First and the Ingwood community gathered for the last IA5 event of the 2022/2023 financial year, and it was an evening brimming with memories and celebration. Reflecting on the resounding success of the 150th Jubilee Celebrations held in January, the event was a heartfelt tribute to Ingwood's rich history.

Hayley Duggan, Executive Manager of the TET Stadium and Events Centre, presented a stunning collection of photos and video footage from the Jubilee display at the town hall and the lively parade. The atmosphere was warm and relaxed as Gay and Kevin Lawrence, the dedicated duo who spent over a year meticulously crafting props, curating photos, and documenting 150 years of local history, were finally able to enjoy their labour of love without the pressures of planning. Members of the Ingwood Jubilee Committee were also present and were able to relax and enjoy the viewing of their hard work during the Jubilee week.

Adding to the excitement, Marie Pearce, Chairperson of the Ingwood First Trust, shared an exciting update: the much-loved Jubilee book 'From the Forest to the Future' is being reprinted! Community members eager to secure a copy are encouraged to visit the Fun Ho! National Toy Museum and register their name - though fair warning, it's one book per family due to high demand.

Marie also announced a small change for the future. From April 2025, entry to IA5 events will be $10 per person, reflecting the rising costs of food, power, wages etc. Despite this, subscriptions will remain at an accessible $30 per annum, ensuring the IA5 tradition continues to welcome all.

Mark your calendars for the next IA5, taking place on 23 April at the Ingwood Squash Club. The Ingwood First Trust extends an IA5 invitation to everyone in the community - come along, connect, and enjoy these vibrant evenings that celebrate the heart and soul of our town.

New Planning Laws to End the Culture of 'No'

by Barbara Kuriger, MP for Taranaki-King Country

Cabinet has now agreed on the shape of the Government's replacement of the Resource Management Act. This signals a radical transition to a more enabling planning system with less red tape premised on the enjoyment of property rights. The RMA is a broken piece of legislation, and the biggest headache on our economy. Turning this around requires changing the culture of 'no' that has seeped into bureaucracy decision making in New Zealand. There's a lot of work still to do, but this Government is committed to delivering these reforms to unlock the economic growth we need to improve the lives of all New Zealanders. Economic Growth means more money in your bank account, more jobs, higher wages, and better public services like schools, hospitals, and roads.

Agreed Features of the New System
Two Acts: A Planning Act focused on regulating the use, development and enjoyment of land, along with a Natural Environment Act focused on the use, protection and enhancement of the natural environment.

A narrower approach to effects management: The new system will be based on the economic concept of 'externalities', excluding effects borne solely by the party undertaking the activity. Property Rights: both Acts will include presumptions that a land use is enabled unless there is a significant enough impact on others' land use or the environment, protecting existing use rights and allowing for the expansion of existing activities.

Simplified National Direction: One set of national policy direction under each Act will streamline local government plans. Direction will cover key areas including freshwater and urban development.

Barbara Kuriger MP for Taranaki-King Country
Backing Rural and Provincial New Zealand

Environmental limits: A clearer basis for setting environmental limits will provide certainty for where development can be enabled, while protecting the environment.

Greater use of standardisation: Nationally set standards and land use zones will provide system benefits and efficiencies while still allowing local decision-making on important matters.

Spatial Plans: Each region will require a spatial plan identifying urban development areas and infrastructure corridors.

Streamlining of council plans: A combined plan will include spatial planning and environment chapters along with planning chapters for each territorial authority district.

Strengthening environmental compliance monitoring and enforcement: A national compliance regulator with a regional presence will be established to improve environmental safeguarding.
