National Save Kiwi Month (Karen Schumacher)

Did you know that October is 'National Save Kiwi' month? It's fantastic that we celebrate our PURANGI

Did you know that October is 'National Save Kiwi' month! It's funtasit that we celebrate our moderal incine bird, our liw for a whole month each year. With many stories around about the wind plight of liwin, Purang Kiwi thought they would start the month with positive news. Two of our kiwi (Trew and Redwood) had faulty transmitters which meant we needed to catch them and put on replacements.

On Mondy I Otober, the field team had a successful mission catching both birds. Even better Trey had a five day old (approx) chick and an egg in his burrow; while nod had two eggs. The human presence would have Redwood had two eggs. The human presence would have resulted in the kiwis abandoning their burrows so the team brought their precious cargo back to Inglewood. Brent Woodhead (new CEO) and his dad, John then took charge of delivering them all to Kiwi Encounter in

For Brent it was the start of his training to become a 'certified' kiwi handler, as he carefully held the chick under close watch from certified kiwi handlers Bob and Sid (his beaming smile says it all). Come into our office to see other kiwi stories during October.
